

The FGC ski resorts open 100% of the tracks

- La Molina, Vall de Núria, Vallter 2000, Esport and Port Ainé open their entire ski area after the heavy snowfall that left thicknesses over one meter on the slopes
- The good conditions of the snow and the constant work of the resort team are the perfect formula to guarantee an unforgettable experience at the five FGC Group ski resorts

The intense snowstorms registered in recent days have turned the area around the FGC Group ski resorts into a white landscape. Thanks to the unbeatable conditions and the constant work of the technical teams of La Molina, Vall de Núria, Vallter 2000, Esport and Port Ainé it is possible to open the maximum number of skiable kilometers that will be very close to 100%.

In addition, the forecast for the coming days is quite good and it is estimated that the five ski resorts will be open completely during the week, provided that the meteorology, which is very changing in the high mountains, allows it. In this sense, the tourist destinations of the FGC Group are presented as the best option to experience the snow.

Almost 100% open

La Molina, with thicknesses of 50 to 110 cm of powder snow, is open 100%. These days, visitors can ski or snowboard on the 63 tracks along 68 skiable kilometers.

The ski resorts located in Pallars Sobirà also offer unbeatable conditions to enjoy the snow. Visitors to Port Ainé can ski on all tracks (27km skiable) with thicknesses of 90 to 140 cm. Esport can enjoy snow thicknesses of up to 125 cm and 100% of the available ski area (22 of 22 tracks).

With thicknesses of up to 100 cm, Vall de Núria opens up nine of its 11 tracks, spread over seven kilometers, and all lifts.

As for the users of Vallter 2000, they will be able to access the 100% of the resort and taste the 13 tracks and the 18 skiable kilometers.
