The catalan group FGC will extend the winter season at the ski resorts until the 8th of April

- The last snow will allow to open the ski slopes more days than initially planned and with a very good quality of snow
- There will be skiing and much more in the stations until the end of the season, with activities aimed at all audiences

Thanks to the snowfalls of the last days of March, the good weather conditions and the good condition of the snow, the five stations of the Grup FGC will extend the winter season until the second weekend of April.

In this sense, you can ski in La Molina and Vallter 2000 ski resorts continuously until April 8. The two stations of Pallars region, Esport and Port Ainé, will also be open uninterrupted until April 8, as well as the hotel that will be open on the weekend of April 7-8.

The Vall de Núria station will be closed during the week starting on the 2nd of April and the last day of opening will be the 8th of April. The Hotel of the station will be in operation every weekend of April and you can visit the Leisure Park permanently (holidays and work days), incorporating summer activities when snow it is no longer there. The rest of services will be adapted to the demand of visitors (Sanctuary, Shop, Interpretation Center, exhibitions ...).

Colophon of activities

The stations of the FGC group are preparing a season ending full of playful proposals, to enjoy to the full the last days of snow. For exemple, visitors can participate in La Molina, in sports events, such as the Mountain T-Roc Adventure (March 24 and 25), a new mountain ski tour in pairs, or the XXII Pepeta Planas Memorial Trophy (March 24), a competition of veterans category dedicated to this woman skier. In addition, it will host the now traditional "Eggs for Easter" Gincana (March 29). In April it will be the turn of the fourth edition of La Molina Chicken Run (April 1) and the VI Trisnow La Molina (April 8).

Vall de Núria will end the winter with snow grooming tours (March 24 and 31) and snowshoes (from March 26 to 31 and April 2, 3, 4, 7 and 8), excursions under the full moon (March 31) and the Esquella de la lluna (March 30), the classic popular mountain skiing
